Visiting my grandparents was a dream, this was because we lived very far away from Bwimbi Town. I had always requested my parents to go for holidays in Bwimbi. I had been told me many interesting stories about this town, the children parks, ice cream stores, banks and interestingly, the Zoo.

I so much pawned but my parents couldn't travel because they were always busy with the farm work. Birds ate tea growing tea. It meant women picked and men loaded tea on the lorries. My parents were among them. So it meant that they would work the whole day from Monday to Saturday. They were however given a short holiday of two weeks every year.

It was during this holiday that they promised to travel to Gwimbi town with my two sisters. There was excitement at home that we could hardly sleep. We woke up at five O'clock and began organising as our parents were still asleep. At exactly ten O'clock everybody was ready for the journey at Kirinyangi Bus Stage. Luckily my father had booked five bus tickets with seats close to the windows.

We watched the beautiful hills, mountains, rivers and animals in the parks on our ten-hour long journey to Gwimbi.
