COMPREHENSION

PASSAGE

Read the passage below carefully and answer questions about it in full sentences.

Nakku was overjoyed for several reasons. To begin with, she was going to travel by bus for the very first time. Secondly, it was going to be her first visit to Kampala, the capital city. She was going to see many road signs that she had learnt in Social studies and English as well.

She sat close to the driver and hoped to see everything along the way.

"Fasten your seat belts please," the driver ordered. When everybody was seated, the huge bus let out some black smoke as it set off.

Although Nakku hardly slept a wink the previous night, she was so anxious that she vowed to remain awake throughout the journey. She therefore joined the other pupils in singing loudly to ensure that she stayed awake and alert.

As she was singing, she started sleeping and suddenly the huge bus jerked into a stop disrupting her sweet sleep. She rubbed her eyes and opened them widely.

Oh we are at a Zebra-crossing and we have to let the pedestrians cross before we can precede, teacher Kato explained clearly.

There were so many other road users that the bus could not move as fast as Nakku and other passengers would have liked.

There were Lorries, taxis, cars and motorcycles. There were bicycles and carts too.

Traffic was really heavy, we soon found ourselves in one of the long queues of the slow – moving vehicles. There were other queues both on the right and on the left.

Teacher Kato explained that the bus had stopped as a result of traffic jam.

After a short distance, the pupils saw a signpost showing directions to different places after which they saw some traffic lights and when the light turned red, Musa, the driver applied the emergency brakes which made the passengers jerk forward. Were it not for the safety belt, Nakku could have fallen.

All the vehicles which were moving into town were stopped by the traffic police officer in smart white uniforms were at the roundabout.

One of the traffic police officer gave a signal for the vehicles to move. As we started, there were sharp corners a head but the driver negotiated them carefully.

"As the passengers were admiring the tall buildings in the city when the bus came to an abrupt halt" This has been a black spot. I think there is need for humps," the driver announced.

COMPREHENSION PASSAGE

Read the passage below and answer questions that follow in FULL sentences.

The pupils of Wansale primary school went for a tour, in the capital city they went around the whole city and saw many things.

When they came back from the city they had too many questions on traffic rules.

Their teachers of English and Social studies decided to invite one of the police inspectors from Buloopa police station to the school to address the pupils on road safety.

The inspector left the head teacher's office in the company of teacher Mukose and addressed both the pupils and the teachers. The inspector was holding a small book entitled "The Highway code and he kept on referring to it. He also said that the work of the police traffic officers is to ensure that there is safety on the roads.

He also informed the school that the police collaborate with the Ministry of Works and Transport to see that all road users are safe.

The inspector said that the pedestrians should always use a foot paths at all times. Pedestrians should also avoid crossing the road at points where they cannot see both ends of the road clearly. These are places behind the parked vehicles, at the road bends or where there is a hillock. Instead, they should cross the road where it is straight and can clearly see both sides of the road.

In towns and busy areas on the road, they should cross at the zebra-crossing or on an overhead pedestrian's bridge. Before crossing the road, one should look left, right and then left again to confirm that there is no vehicles coming before one crosses the road. Drivers should be patient with other road users. They should let the pedestrians cross without hooting at them and especially when crossing the road.

Vehicles should be in a good mechanical condition because those without side mirrors, faulty brakes headlights, light reflectors and tyres without treads have been a major cause of road accidents. Drunkards and careless drivers also cause accidents on the roads.

In conclusion, both the cyclists and the passenger should wear helmets and reflector to be visible in the dark.

Thank you for listening to me. The pupils gave him a thunderous clap as he sat down. The pupils asked some questions about traffic dangers which the inspector answered properly.

COMPREHENSION POEM

Read the poem below and answer the questions about it in full sentences
ON THE ROAD

From dawn to dusk,
Morning to sunset,
Roads are full of different road users,
Heading to various destinations,
In the city or village.

Pedestrians trek on the pavement,
Passengers sit comfortably in taxis and buses,
As they pass by,
Trees appear as if they are running backward,
Yet they're stationary.

Hand signals, traffic light, indicators,
And horns are used for communication,
The red light commands the driver to stop,
Orange light alerts him to get ready,
While the green light tells him to move forward.

With an indicator, one can make a left or right turn,
Traffic officers help to maintain law and order on the road,
They stand at the road junctions,
Smartly dressed in their uniforms,
Because the safety of the road is for all.

COMPREHENSION

Passage

Read the passage below carefully and answer questions about it in full sentences.

An accident at a zebra crossing

One Saturday morning I witnessed an accident at a zebra crossing. I was going with my mother to do our weekly shopping and we had been caught up in the traffic jam. When we approached the zebra crossing, we stopped to allow some pedestrians to cross the road. In the meantime, I kept myself busy by studying the sign posts.

After sometime, we heard the regular sounding of the car horns. It was a fleet of bridal cars, all of them sleek Pajeros. Beep! Beep! They went as all the other cars gave way.

Suddenly a speeding taxi appeared from nowhere and knocked down a man who was crossing the road.

The reckless driver had been talking on a mobile phone. In the process he rammed into one of the bridal cars in the opposite direction. The man was thrown off his feet onto the road, where he lay unconsciously. My mother being a nurse, rushed over to him in order to give first aid. I quickly took note of the taxi registration number and wrote it on a piece of paper.

Soon, a curious crowd had gathered at the scene and everyone was talking at once. The taxi driver tried to escape but some youth stopped him and started beating him up. In the midst of all this confusion, the police patrol arrived. One police officer, who seemed to be the patrol leader, asked what had happened. Everyone started talking in excitement. At the moment, the police officer pointed to my mother and asked her to describe what she had seen. She did this as he wrote some notes in a little notebook.

Afterwards, he thanked her and called two other policemen to carry the victim onto the police patrol pickup truck.

The police officer pointed out that most accidents were caused by careless drivers. "These drivers," he said, "over speed and they do not read or follow the road signs, let alone respect other road users."

Two breakdown trucks arrived. One towed away the damaged Pajero car. Another one towed away the taxi. The police confiscated the reckless driver's driving permit and arrested him. "Serves you right," shouted the crowd as they waved their fists in his face.

ADVERBS

In order to add more information to a verb, we use adverbs.

Adverbs are words which describe how, when, where, or to what extent an action is done.

For example:

He drove –very fast.

- to Rwanda.
- at night.
- carefully.

In the above example, the following types of adverbs are shown.

1. Adverbs of degree

These tell us to what extent an action is done. e.g. very, really, completely, extremely, anyhow, much, almost, quite,rather...

(a) Adverbs of place

These tell us where an action is done.

Examples of adverb of time are: Rwanda, here, there, somewhere, nowhere, everywhere, indoors, at home, on the table, on the way

(b) Adverbs of time

These tell us when an action is done. e.g. at night, in the morning, immediately, just, already...

(c) Adverbs of manner

These tell us how an action is done. e.g. carefully, well, properly, skillfully, easily, happily, lazily, wonderfully

(d) Adverbs of frequency

These tell us how often an action is done. e.g. always, seldom, usually, sometimes, rarely, ever, normally...

(e) Adverbs of duration

These adverbs tell us the period a given action lasted. e.g. an hour, week ,a year, a month,

TRIAL ACTIVITY

A. Make five sentences using these adverbs.

1. easily
2. skilfully
3. extremely
4. accidentally
5. seldom

1. My friend is very smart.
 2. I have put my uniform on that table.
 3. We usually play football.
 4. Break time has just ended.
 5. My father told me to put my shoes here.

TRIAL ACTIVITY

Formation of Adverbs

Most adverbs are formed from adjectives especially by using the suffix- ly.

a) Adverbs formed by changing 'y' to 'i' and add 'ly'

Adjective Adverb

lucky	luckily
heavy	heavily easy temporary voluntary stealthy necessary unnecessary
happy
merry shabby hearty steady angry.....
hungry

b) Adverbs formed by dropping last 'e' and adds 'y'

adjective	Adverb formed
simple	simply
horrible	_____
terrible	_____
sensible	_____
noble	_____

humble	humbly probable gentle possible suitable comfortable able miserable

c) Adverbs formed by doubling 'l' plus 'y'

painful painfully

careful carefully

harmful

skilful.....

cruel cruelly

practical accidental

mental thankful

equal annual cheerful

d) For the other adjectives, simply add 'ly'

polite
wise immediate active

Exceptions include;

shy
true whole public

Some adverbs are formed from verbs. Here, the verb is changed to its past tense form before adding -ly to form the adverb.

e.g. Verb	Adverb
hurry	hurriedly
worry	worriedly
repeat	repeatedly

Exercise

PASSAGE

Read the passage below and answer questions that follow in FULL sentences.

The pupils of Wansale primary school went for a tour, in the capital city they went around the whole city and saw many things.

When they came back from the city they had too many questions on traffic rules.

Their teachers of English and Social studies decided to invite one of the police inspectors from Buloopa police station to the school to address the pupils on road safety.

The inspector left the head teacher's office in the company of teacher Mukose and addressed both the pupils and the teachers. The inspector was holding a small book entitled "The Highway code and he kept on referring to it. He also said that the work of the police traffic officers is to ensure that there is safety on the roads.

He also informed the school that the police collaborate with the Ministry of Works and Transport to see that all road users are safe.

The inspector said that the pedestrians should always use a foot paths at all times. Pedestrians should also avoid crossing the road at points where they cannot see both ends of the road clearly. These are places behind the parked vehicles, at the road bends or where there is a hillock. Instead, they should cross the road where it is straight and can clearly see both sides of the road.

In towns and busy areas on the road, they should cross at the zebra-crossing or on an overhead pedestrian's bridge. Before crossing the road, one should look left, right and then left again to confirm that there is no vehicles coming before one crosses the road. Drivers should be patient with other road users. They should let the pedestrians cross without hooting at them and especially when crossing the road.

Vehicles should be in a good mechanical condition because those without side mirrors, faulty brakes headlights, light reflectors and tyres without treads have been a major cause of road accidents. Drunkards and careless drivers also cause accidents on the roads.

In conclusion, both the cyclists and the passenger should wear helmets and reflector to be visible in the dark.

COMPREHENSION

ASPECT: PASSAGE

Read the following passage carefully and answer in full sentences the questions that follow.

Every week, schools in Uganda hold debates. These debates are base on different topics called motions. The motion to be debated is however, chosen basing on the ability and level of the class.

Last week, Kibimba Primary school held an inter-house debate. The motion was "Technology has done better things than harm." Dr. Albert Cook House proposed the motion whereas Captain Lugard House opposed it. The chief organizer of the debate was Mr. Waiswa Fred, the head of English Department at Kibimba Primary School.

At the beginning of the debate, the audience stood up and sang the National Anthem.

The chairperson, Hon. MigaddeHamuza introduced his cabinet and the speakers from proposition and opposition sides.

The chairperson warned the proposers and opposers against breaking the rules of a debate. He also called upon the audience to participate by raising points like; point of inquiry, point information etc.

Among the people who attended the debate was Mr. Mugoya Pius, the head teacher, Kibimba Primary School. In his speech, Mr. Mugoya thanked the teachers and pupils for being involved in debating. 'I am going to buy a bull for the winners and a goat besides a dictionary for the losers.' said the headmaster.

During the debate, the secretary recorded the points raised by both the proposers and opposers. The speakers argued strongly for and against the motion.

In the end, Dr. Albert Cook House won the debate and took a bull.

A HAPPY FAMILY

Six years ago, Gloria and Bairu tied a knot as husband and wife. They have been blessed with two pairs of twins of whom three are boys. Gloria is a banker and she is paid very well. Her responsibility as a mother and a wife is to provide food and medical care to the family. Mr. Bairu is a farmer. He has a big herd of cattle which gives him a lot of money. He takes care of the children by paying school fees and other basic needs. His brother-in-law is a widower and so he supports him in paying school fees for the orphans.

On Christmas and Easter, Mr. Bairu makes a social gathering of his relatives, friends and in-laws. He loves having fun with his cousins, nephews, nieces and above all, his twins.

Whenever there is a challenge or a problem in their family, they sit together, share and find a way forward. This has helped them a great deal. They always apologize to one another in the family in case of any wrong or mistake. Their love is shown in action rather than in words. The couple is a role model to their children and there is a high standard of respect.

May the Good God bless this family.

THE ENYARU'S FAMILY

The name Enyaru is a popular one in the village of Opit in Kaberamaido. It got its root from a great grandfather who was once a 'muluka' chief. This man married twenty wives who each produced eight children.

This man was a Christian and each of his children was baptized. Solomon Enyaru was his eldest son. He also had several wives since he was a son of a chief. He also produced a long line of grandchildren for his father. His brother and sisters produced sons and daughters who were also Enyaru's grandchildren, and too carried the name on. Solomon's daughters were nieces to his sisters and these daughters called them their aunties. Solomon's sons called his brothers uncles and therefore the boys were nephews to them. These children of uncles and aunties were cousins to one another.

Solomon had half brothers and half sisters who also had children and the children too produced grandchildren for Enyaru, who were both granddaughters and grandsons of Enyaru.

One thing which was taken care of very seriously was that despite the fact that they were very many; no marriage was ever heard of among them. There was no incest at all. Instead, anyone who wished to get a husband or wife had to go long distances away from Opit Village.

This now brought in sons-in-law and daughters-in-law in Enyaru's family.

The Enyarus you hear of now are great-grandsons and great-granddaughters of a once a 'muluka' chief of Opit.

ASPECT: Comprehension

Read the poem below and in full sentences, answer the questions that follow.

I AM A CARPENTER

I am a carpenter and a designer,
With two hands, I have made fame,
With two hands, I have made a name,
I make wood useful to people,
I am a carpenter and designer by profession.

With a plane, I make wonders from wood,
Sofa sets, sideboards and cupboards,
Wardrobes, counters and frames,
I make the most comfortable beds,
Where we lay the dead,
For the rest of their time.

Mvule, Mahogany and Oak,
Are the best raw materials in the workshop,
Save for the pine and cypress which are soft wood,
While polish makes wood shine,
Glue firmly pastes planks together,
Yes, the result is something wonderful.

I am proud each time I am called to work,
It is on wood I entirely depend,
I am proud that I do fill your house,

Designing is part of my life,
On my skills, I can survive I am proud,
I am a carpenter.

COMPREHENSION PASSAGE

Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow in full sentences.

CARPENTRY

Carpentry is one of the most self reliant pr independent occupations in our country today. It involves making and repairing wooden objects.

Carpentry requires life skills. Besides, one has to join a technical institution in order to acquire professional skills in wood work or journey.

In Uganda, like in other parts of the world, there are a number of technical institutes. Some are private and others are owned by the government. These include Elgon Technical Institute in the eastern region, Kicwamba Technical Institute in the western region, Kisubi and Kyambogo Technical Institutes in the central region among others.

These institutes have trained many carpenters in Uganda. The carpenters make good office and home furniture. Some furniture is even exported to neighbouring countries like Sudan, Kenya and Rwanda.

The carpenters, however, say that the best wood comes from the Ssesse Islands, Mahogany Oak, Mvule and Musizi provide hard wood. On the other hand pine and cypress trees provide soft wood.

First, the lumberjacks fell the trees into logs with power saws. Next the logs are sawed into timber which is sooner or later transported and distributed to different parts of the country for sale.

Then, the carpenters access and purchase the timber in any quantities they can afford from the timber stores. They make it smooth with planes; cut the planks into sizeable pieces and make beds, chairs, tables, wardrobes and coffins for the dead. Tools such as hammers, drills, saw, screw drivers, nails and glue are used to join and fix furniture firmly.

After making the furniture, the carpenters polish it with vanish and brushes. Varnish makes furniture shiny and glittering.

Finally, the carpenters display their furniture either in the show rooms or by the road side for the customers to admire and buy. In turn, they make a loaf of money and send their children to school.

A VISIT TO A CARPENTRY WORKSHOP

Carpenter:	I am pleased to see you, dear pupils of St. Agnes primary school.
Pupils:	Thank you! We have great pleasure of meeting you too.
Carpenter:	Where is the teacher who has accompanied you?
Pupils:	He is still in the school truck. He is Mr. Kisakye our teacher of English in P.6.
Carpenter:	Would you like to ask any questions, please?
Pupils:	Certainly, Mr. Carpenter. We have just learnt about carpentry. What is a plane used for?
Carpenter:	To make the wood smooth.
Pupils:	Thank you, Mr. Carpenter. What do we need to make a chair?
Carpenter:	You need some wood, a plane, a saw, some nails and varnish.
Pupils:	That's wonderful! What steps do you take to make a chair?
Carpenter:	First you plane the wood, next you cut it into pieces, then you fix the pieces firmly together using nails and a hammer.
Pupils:	Mr. Carpenter, what do you do when you want to polish a chair or any other piece of furniture?
Carpenter:	First, you make it smooth using sandpaper, next you polish it using varnish and a brush, and then you put the chair in the sun to dry.
Pupils:	Dear sir, will you please tell us why you apply varnish to wooden objects?
Carpenter:	Well, we polish wooden objects with varnish to make them shiny and good looking.
Pupils:	We didn't know all this information about carpentry. Thank you very much, Mr. Carpenter. Good bye.

HARD WORK PAYS

Martin Mukambwe, aged 30, is a young but professional tailor in Kiyembe Market, Lilongwe town council in Masaka District. He has a family of three boys and two girls. All his children are studying in good schools. It is through his creativity and hard work in fashion wear that he has been able to take care of his family very successfully.

Martin started this business as an individual by knitting sweaters and weaving table clothes, selling them to relatives and friends. Out of it, he managed to acquire an electric sewing machine which helped him to make work easier and quicker. He would buy materials from Kampala and make fashionable garments and sell them from door to door. This attracted many customers.

Martin's friends and relatives supported him greatly and some of them connected him to some schools around. He made school uniforms and sweaters and sold them at lower prices. This made him to be popular in the area. His business expanded and he decided to start a Professional Tailoring School. In his school, would be taught how to develop skills in tailoring, weaving, patching torn clothes, hemming and stitching materials and sorting buttons. He created jobs for low income earners. Most of these people have been encouraged to start their own self-help projects. They have put up retail shops which sell items like needles, buttons, thread, zips, scissors, and seams and already made garments.

Martin's hard work and creativity has helped him to develop steadily and he is one of the richest people we have in town today. It is very true that indeed hard work pays a lot.

PASSAGE

Read the passage and answer questions that follow in full sentences

At the beginning of school term, the pupils of primary six in Lweza Public School visited Tip Top bakery in Jinja town. The trip was organized by Mr.

Kaddu, the teacher of English. He wanted the pupils to learn more about baking.

The children travelled by bus from school to the bakery. On their way, they saw many people doing different occupations such as tailoring, carpentry, teaching and farming.

When they reached Tip Top bakery, the pupils were welcomed by the marketing Manager.

Later on, the pupils were divided into three groups. Each group consisted of sixteen pupils. Every group was given a tour guide to take them around the different sections in the bakery.

First, the pupils were taken to the baking section. At the baking section, they saw how baking flour is mixed with other ingredients to make dough and other products. They also saw how bread, cakes, cookies etc are baked in an oven.

Next, they went to the slicing section. While in the slicing section, the pupils saw how bread is sliced using machines.

We use tword would when referring to a condition that cannot be fulfilled. One is only trying to imagine what would happen if a certain condition was fulfilled.

We use auxillary verb were instead of was .

We use If + past simple + would/ should + a verb in the present simple tense

Examples

Change these sentences from if I to if II conditionals.

1. If animals are people, they will complain.
If animals were people, they would complain.
2. If animals have power they will not allow to be milked.
If animals had power they would not allow to be milked.

Activity

Change these sentences from if 1 to if II conditionals.

- (a) If dogs are wild animals, they will be dangerous to people.
- (b) If animals are given chance to talk, they will report for abuse.

Join these sentences using: would.....

- (c) I am not an animal. I cannot sleep out.

PASSAGE

Read the following passage carefully and answer in full sentences the questions that follow

In a small village called Maddu, there lives a well-known farmer called Kasirye. He is so hardworking that many people in his village admire him.

Kasirye rears animals and grows a variety of crops on his farm. He has a big herd of cattle and flocks of goats and sheep. Some of his animals are black and white while others are brown. These animals moo, bellow and bleat at the farm. His dogs guard the farm and bark at the strangers who visit him.

He grows maize, millet, simsim, sunflowers beans, cassava, mangoes, oranges, cabbages and tomatoes mainly for sale. In addition, he keeps domestic birds such as ducks, geese, turkeys, and guinea fowl. He is able to pay school fees for his children. Some of whom have joined University and others are still in primary and secondary schools.

However, to be able to manage the farm, Kasirye uses a large number of workers to help him. This provides employment for these people. They are also able to earn some money for sending their children to school too.

When his animals fall sick, Kasirye invites a veterinary doctor to treat them and give him advisory services. Mr. Kasirye hates herdsmen and shepherds who torture his animals. On some occasions, he docks and castrates his animals.

Kasirye uses cow dung on his farm as manure. Very many residents from near and far visit his farm to buy dairy products like milk, butter, ghee, yoghurt and even fruits and vegetables from his orchard. His herdsmen milk the cows every morning and evening. They use machines and milk cans.

Like Kasirye therefore, Ugandans ought to practice mixed farming to improve on their house hold income and develop our country.

Questions

- a) Where does Mr. Kasirye live?
- b) What type of farming does he practice?
- c) How often are the cows milked?
- d) Which animals do you think bleat at the farm?
- e) How does Mr. Kasirye make cow dung useful?
- f) Mention any three milk products from Kasirye's farm.
- g) Give another word with similar meaning as "well known" in the passage.
- h) Why do you think people admire Kasirye?

MUTEBIRE'S FARM

Balinda: Welcome back, Eddie.

Edward: Thank you, Balinda.

Balinda: Were you able to get some milk?

Edward: Yes, I was, but it was not very easy.

Balinda: Not very easy! Why?

Edward: Mr. Mutebire's dogs were at the farm gate barking fiercely.

Balinda: Well, he says that his fierce dogs help to protect the animals on his farm from being attacked by wild animals. Does he really keep many domestic animals?

Edward: I think so. I saw a kennel, a sty, a byre, a stable and a few cages in his compound.

Balinda: Mr. Mutebire and his wife must be always busy looking after all those animals. In fact, I think the dogs help to protect the animals from thieves as well.

Edward: Oh, yes. No thief would dare face those dogs. They are very fierce.

Questions

POEMRead the poem and answer the questions in full sentences

The abattoir is like a battle field,
Filled with blood every morning
From the innocent animals,
Sentenced to death by the butcher,
Cows, bulls, goats and sheep, Are neither pardoned?

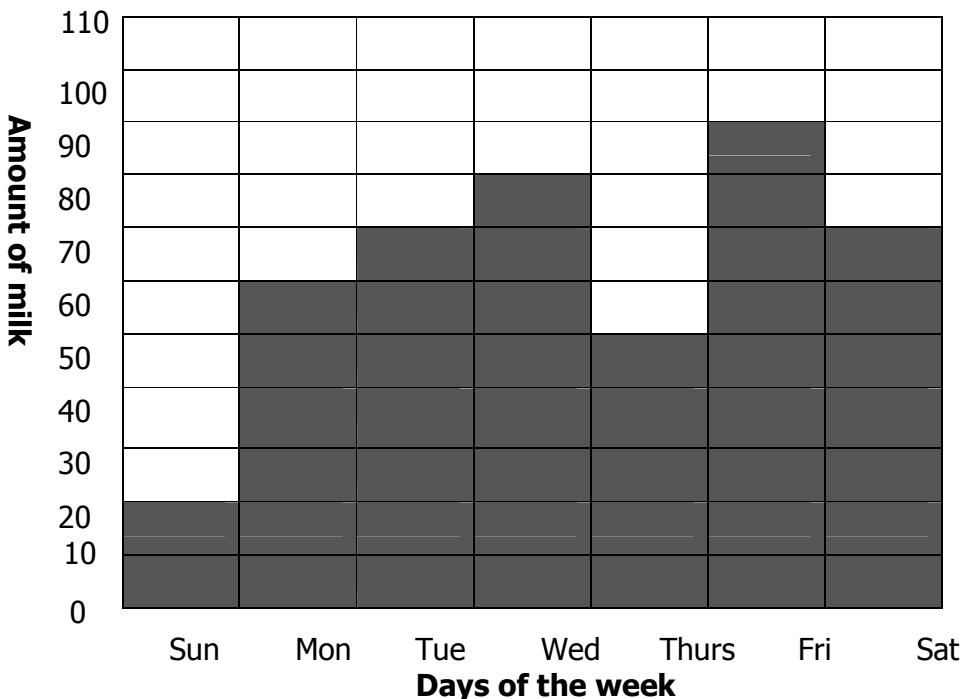

The cows moo and the bulls bellow,
The goats and sheep bleat,
But no one comes to their rescue,
Because they will make a stew,
And tasty meals.

The customers wait for their meat,
At the butcher's shop or stall,
The butcher cuts the meat into pieces with a panga,
With the weighing scales,
Kilograms are measured,
But the vegetarians have mercy,
For they never taste the meat.

LANGUAGE STRUCTURES

Use of: Inspite of/ despite.....

These structures are used to show that something or someone can have something good and bad at the same time.

They give the same meaning as that of although, though, even if, even though and but.

"Despite" and "in spite of" are used with both adjectives and abstract nouns. The easiest form is the use of "the fact that"

When a sentence begins with "in spite of" or "Despite", a comma is used.

It is wrong to write "inspite" as one word.

"In spite" takes preposition "of" whereas despite doesn't.

Examples

1. Although the road is narrow, it is very busy.

- ✓ Inspite of the fact that the road is narrow, it is very busy.
- ✓ Despite the road's narrowness, it is very busy.

ADVERBS

An adverb is a word which modifies or adds to the meaning of a verb, adjective or another adverb. Adverbs may be divided, according to their use; as below:

- (a) TIME: before, now, since, then, already, soon, seldom.
Example: We have met before.
- (b) PLACE: here, there, everywhere, nowhere. Example;
They came here yesterday
- (c) MANNER: badly, easily, slowly, well. Example; The tall boy won easily.
- (d) DEGREE: almost, much, only, quiet, very, rather.
Example; The old lady walked very slowly.
- (e) NUMBER: once, twice. Example; they ran twice round the park.
- (f) Questioning: where, when, how. Example; When did you see him?
- (g) Affirmation and negation: yes, certainly, no not Example; She can certainly swim.
I have not read the book.

Many adverbs can be used as connecting words and therefore become conjunctions. Many of these will be looked at under the unit 'conjunctions'.

EXERCISE I

Underline the adverbs in the following sentences.

1. Dinner will soon be ready.
2. There lay the object of our search.
3. The man walked slowly across the field.
4. The apples were quite good.
5. I once saw an eagle kill a rabbit.
6. Where did you find that knife?
7. He can certainly boast about his adventures.
8. We did not go to the concert.

LESSON III

COMPARISON OF ADVERBS

Adverbs are compared in the same way as adjectives. This is by putting them under positive, comparative and superlative degree. Some adverbs are compared by adding -er or -est respectively.

Positive	comparative	superlative
well	better	best
hard	harder	hardest
fast	faster	fastest
soon	sooner	soonest
long	longer	longest
much	more	most
badly	worse	worst
far	farther	farthest

Adverbs that end – ly are compared by adding more to form the comparative degree and most to form the superlative degrees.

Examples

positive	comparative	superlative
slowly	more slowly	most slowly
quickly	more quickly	most quickly
smartly	more smartly	most smartly
shabbily	more shabbily	most shabbily
generously	more generously	most generously

ORDER OF TWO ADVERBS

When we wish to use an adverb of place and an adverb of time in the same sentence or clause, the usual order is adverb of place + adverb of time.

e.g.

- He left for Europe last Thursday.
- She went to the theatre last Saturday.

If we wish to emphasise the adverb of time we may place it before the adverb of place.

He left last Thursday for Europe.

She went on Saturday to the theatre.

As mentioned above, the adverb of time can come at the beginning of the sentence or clause.

On Saturday she went to the theatre.

An adverb giving the number of times or frequency normally comes before an adverb of time.

- She went to the library several times last week.
- He went fishing every weekend last summer.

The rule also applied when often is used towards the end of a sentence.

- She went there often in 1982.
- He used to come here often last year.

Practice I

Re-arrange the group of words following the procedure discussed and form good sentences.

1. To his parents' home at weekends often goes he class he
2. class this term every Saturday play, will he
3. to the clinic last month six times he went.
4. thoroughly last week cleared the rooms were.
5. hardly this year able be her education to complete she will.
6. he in class reminded last year was to pay attention often
7. to his office yesterday I went three times.

8. before had been we there never.
9. arrived last week on time never she for her classes.
10. get up he before seven O'clock never these days.

Practice II

Put the adverb in a suitable position in the sentence without emphasizing it.

1. The builders have completed the house. (almost)
2. His parents arrived. (half an hour ago)
3. This student does good work. (generally)
4. I met him (in the library)
5. He doesn't refer to a dictionary. (often)
6. He has heard of Marconi (never)
7. We were able to hear what he said. (hardly)
8. She doesn't play volleyball. (still)

COMPREHENSION PASSAGE

Read the following passage and then answer the questions in full sentences.
HOTELS

A hotel is a commercial building which offers lodging or accommodation to travelers and tourists. Some hotels have conference rooms, banquet halls for official parties like wedding receptions, graduation parties and other services that are available to the general public.

There are other hotels which have multiple eating places known as restaurants. In these restaurants, meals are served in the premises which make it quite appealing to guests, tourists and other holiday makers. In such restaurants, waiters, waitresses serve customers with quality food which is prepared by well-trained chefs. These chefs prepare delicious meals which are served with a lot of customer care.

In most attractive hotels, hygiene is given the first priority. All rooms are air conditioned and are extremely neat. The gardens around the hotel are well kept. Every worker in such hotels must have a high standard of customer care.

Some of the workers in hotels include; the manager, waiter, waitresses, receptionists, caterers, chefs, cashiers and cleaners, waiters and waitresses must be smartly dressed in corporate uniform. They should be speaking more than two languages in addition to English.

Hotels with restaurants have menus where lists of available food and prices are given to customers. All the bookings are done at the reception in case one needs lodging facilities. At the reception, a receptionist will always give necessary information about the hotel. If one needs permanent residence in a hotel, one is taken around the facilities such as washrooms, restrooms, sauna, gym, a swimming pool etc. If the customer is satisfied with the available facilities, he will be taken to the cashier to pay the agreed amount of money and then be given a receipt. This kind of life is only fit for the millionaires.

DIRECT AND INDIRECT SPEECH

Direct speech is when we enclose the actual or exact words of the speaker with quotation marks
Quotation marks can also be called speech marks or inverted commas (" ")

Examples

1. "I am going to have lunch now," said Tom
2. He asked "why is the baby crying?"

Indirect speech is also known as reported speech

Indirect speech is used when we wish to report what another person said unlike direct speech, the indirect speech does not require inverted commas.

Instead we remove them and use a full stop only at the end of the sentence.

Examples

1. Direct: I am preparing dinner now," the chef said.
2. Indirect: the chef said that he was preparing dinner then.
3. Direct: The customer said, "I am hungry."
4. Indirect: The customer said that he was hungry.
5. Direct: Miriam said, "I will have chips and chicken.
6. Indirect: Miriam said that she would have chips and chicken.

Note:

There are certain rules that govern direct and indirect speech.

When a sentence is changed from direct speech to indirect speech certain changes are made. They include;

1. Changing tenses i.e. present simple to past simple.
2. Changing pronouns.
3. Changing adverbs of time and place.
4. Changing questions.
5. Changing commands i.e. using told or ordered etc.
6. Changing demonstrative adjectives i.e. these – those, this – that

Note to teacher: Go into details here as much as you can

Tenses

1. Present simple becomes past simple tense
2. Present continuous becomes past continuous

3. Present perfect become past perfect tense
4. Past simple changes to past perfect
5. Future simple 'will' change to 'would' and 'shall' changes to 'should'

USEFULNESS OF A DICTIONARY

A dictionary is a book which gives the spelling and meanings of words in their alphabetical order. A dictionary is a very useful reference book to learners of English.

language and other subjects. It helps them to look up the meanings and spellings of words and phrases they don't understand.

However, in order one to be able to use the dictionary, one must learn the alphabet and acquire dictionary skills first. This is because the words are arranged alphabetically in a dictionary ; ABC.....Order. Therefore, check words beginning with A at the front pages, with M and N in the middle, with Z at the back pages.

The alphabet is a set of letters in a fixed order used for writing a particular language. For instance the English alphabet has twenty six letters.

A dictionary identifies the words with their respective word families or classes and purposes. For example using abbreviations and grammar labels such as abbr. for abbreviation, adj for adjective, adv, for adverb, conj for conjunctions, prep for preposition, sing for singular, pl-for plural, sthfor something,(n) for noun and many more. This prompts incidental learning and mastery of parts of speech.

Besides, a dictionary enriches the pupil's or student's vocabulary. It also gives the pronunciation and stress of words, consonants, vowels and diphthongs. A diphthong is a combination of two vowel sound or vowel letters. For instance the sounds/ei/ingate /get/ or the letters ouin the word about.

A dictionary should indeed be one's companion in all academic spheres.

Questions

- a) What is the passage about?
- b) How are the words organized in a dictionary?
- c) What is a dictionary used for?
- d) Why do you think each pupil should have a dictionary?
- e) Where do you think children can borrow a dictionary while at school?
- f) What should one learn before using a dictionary?
- g) According to the passage, what are diphthongs?
- h) If you came across a new word, what would you do?
- i) Give another word or a group of words with the same meaning as:
i) alphabet _____
ii) besides _____

Alphabetical order

The words in a dictionary are arranged in alphabetical order. Words beginning with the letter "A" or 'a' come first, however these words are arranged in a certain order depending on the preceding letters in the word

The English alphabet

Aa Bb Cc Dd Ee Ff Gg HhIiJj Kk Ll Mm NnOo Pp Qq Rr Ss Tt UuVvWwXxYyZz.

Arranging words in alphabetical order ABC.....

1. Cupful cash child children

Using a Dictionary

A dictionary is a reference book. We use a dictionary to look up the meanings of words and expressions which we do not understand well. A dictionary has the following:

Naming words (nouns), describing words (adjectives), words indicating actions(verbs), words describing verbs(adverbs).

When we want to know the correct way of reading a word then we refer to pronunciation. When we wish to understand grammar and any language, it is advisable to check the definitions, punctuation, and other explanations given.

A dictionary has regular and irregular verbs, compound words, comparatives and superlatives, synonyms and similes. The most interesting words are abbreviations like i.e, etc and acronyms like UNESCO, UWESO.

When you have a dictionary, your learning is made a lot easier.

Questions:

1. What is a dictionary used for?
2. What should one do if he or she does not understand a word well?
3. What do you look for when you want to find the correct way to read a word?
4. What are words which describe verbs in a dictionary called?
5. What is a naming word called in a dictionary?
6. What word describes a verb?
7. How are words arranged in a dictionary?
8. What are naming words?
